COMMUNITY IMPACT REPORT

90 Years of Supporting Community
50 Years as United Way

Together, we're building opportunities for every person in Reno County.

90 50 YEARS
YEARS OF COMMUNITY
50 YEARS AS UNITED WAY

A LETTER FROM OUR CEO

Dear Friends,

As I reflect on this past year, one word comes to mind: community.

For 90 years, people in Reno County have come together to care for one another by giving through our organization. For the last 50 years, that work has happened under the name United Way. We are honored to continue to help carry this spirit of generosity by connecting people, resources, and solutions to one another.

Because of your support, children received books, families found quality childcare, neighbors strengthened their financial stability, and individuals connected with the resources they needed to thrive.

Every success in this report reflects what we accomplished TOGETHER over the last year.

While we celebrate these achievements, we also recognize the work ahead. Today, 41% of Reno County households are ALICE or living in poverty. That's why we're committing to a bold five-year goal: reducing that number by 5%. It won't happen overnight, but we invite YOU to join us, because together we can create lasting change.

Thank you for believing in this work and investing in our community. As we celebrate 90 years of impact, we're building an even stronger future–together.

United,

Lacey Mills,
CEO

90 YEARS
OF COMMUNITY

For 90 years, one thing has never changed: when Reno County faces a challenge, our community UNITES to find solutions.

In 1936, community leaders came together to create a Community Chest fundraising campaign with a simple idea in mind: we can accomplish more together than any one of us can alone. And that belief continues to guide work at United Way of Reno County still today.

Over the last nine decades, our community has weathered wars, economic uncertainty, natural disasters, changing industries and countless challenges that have tested families and neighborhoods. Through every season, one constant has remained–when needs arise, Reno County neighbors show up to help their neighbors.

Today, that spirit lives on. Together with generous donors, dedicated volunteers, local businesses, nonprofits, schools, healthcare providers, faith organizations and government partners, UWRC is continuing the work of building a stronger community for everyone.

As our organization celebrates 90 years of supporting community needs, and 50 years of doing that as United Way, we're also looking toward the future. The challenges facing families today are different than they were generations ago, but the theory behind our work remains the same: by bringing people together to create opportunities, we can strengthen lives and build a future where every person can thrive.

The next chapter isn't just about honoring our past. It's about building the next 90 years–together.

FIRST COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE HELD

500 community members worked door-to-door to raise $28,815 to support 5 organizations: YMCA, YWCA, the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Later in the 1930s, campaign was led by a host of Hutchinson history makers, including J.W. Gowans, Henry Pegues, V.M. Wiley, and Emerson Carey Jr. - just to name a few.

COMMUNITY CHEST NAME CHANGES

During WWII, the Community Chest and the national War Fund drives were combined to support the need of soldiers through the USO and refugee efforts abroad.

During the 1950s and 1960s, the annual community chest campaign held several names, including the "Red Feather Campaign" and "United Fund" for Reno County.

OFFICIAL INCORPORATION AS A UNITED WAY AGENCY

In 1976, the United Fund of Reno County officially became the United Way of Reno County, under the directorship of Jim Compton (pictured left).

The 1980s and 1990s represented a huge period of growth for the organization - both in funds raised and support invested into local programming.

COMMUNITY IMPACT WORK & INTERNAL PROGRAMS BEGIN

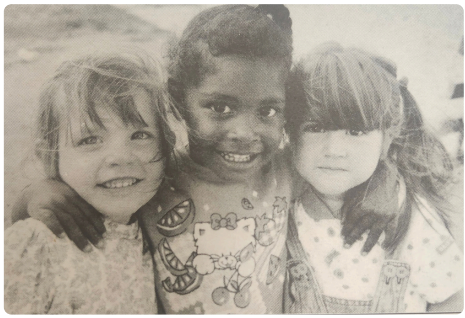

In the 2000s, campaign goal surpassed $1M and community impact work launched–including the first community conversation on early childhood learning, the start of annual Community Work Day volunteer event, and the introduction of Dolly Parton Imagination Library to Reno County.

SERVING ALICE & FUTURE GENERATIONS IN RENO COUNTY

Our work has grown and evolved over 90 years, but our purpose remains the same: funding local needs, connecting people to resources, and convening leaders to solve challenges we cannot tackle alone. At the heart of it all is one goal–building a Reno County where everyone has opportunity, connection, and the chance to thrive.

The Red Feather Queen reigned as the face for campaign in the 1950s.

In the 1980s and 1990s, annual newspaper ads highlighted the local programs receiving support.

Launched in 2011, The Dolly Parton Imagination Library continues to inspire young readers still today.

From "Over the Edge" to "Spark Tank Live", creative ideas continue to UNITE our community for bigger impact.

OUR COMMUNITY IMPACT MODEL

THREE WAYS UWRC INVESTS IN COMMUNITY

United Way of Reno County works every day to improve lives and strengthen our community. We do this in three powerful ways.

INVEST IN PARTNERS

In 2025-2026, UWRC invested $900,000 in 21 local nonprofit partners, supporting 37 programs which provide critical services and create opportunities in four focus areas.

LEAD PROGRAMS

UWRC delivers key programs to community, including Reno Connections and the Dolly Parton Imagination Library, which fill gaps, connect people to resources, and help families thrive.

UNITE FOR CHANGE

We bring people, organizations and government partners together to tackle our community's most complex challenges and drive system-level change.

STRONGER TOGETHER. BETTER TOGETHER.

UNITED WAY Reno County

By investing in partners, leading programs, and UNITING our community, we address immediate needs and create lasting change for Reno County.

Because of the generosity of our community and the hard work of our partners, we are building a stronger, more resilient Reno County where everyone has the opportunity to thrive.

FOCUS AREA

YOUTH OPPORTUNITY

When children thrive, our entire community grows stronger, more connected, and more resilient.

At United Way of Reno County, we believe every child deserves the support and resources needed to thrive academically, emotionally, and socially. That's why we work to remove barriers and create pathways to opportunity from early childhood through young adulthood.

Through investments in trusted nonprofit partners, community collaboration, and by offering UWRC direct programs, we help strengthen the systems that support children, youth, and families.

By bringing partners together around early childhood education, youth mental health, juvenile justice reform, postsecondary access, and career pathways, we're building a future where every young person has the opportunity to succeed.

MADE POSSIBLE BY YOU

Your giving helps ensure kids have access to the resources and experiences that open doors to bright futures.

FEATURED STORY

Investing in First Steps

When community supports families, children thrive

For many families, access to quality child care can determine what opportunities are possible for the full family. Without reliable, affordable care, parents may be forced to choose between pursuing education, maintaining employment, and providing the safe, supportive environment their children need to thrive.

That's why our work centers on the belief that every child deserves access to a strong start–regardless of their family's income.

Through services at Hadley Day Care Center, families across Reno County have access to high-quality child care and early learning opportunities at an affordable price due to the center using an income-based sliding-scale tuition model. As the only center in Reno County implementing this unique approach, Hadley Day Care is helping remove financial barriers for the families it serves, allowing more children to experience a safe, nurturing environment where they can learn, grow, and reach important developmental milestones.

But the impact extends beyond the classroom.

By helping make child care more affordable, Hadley supports parents as they work, attend school, and build greater long-term stability for their families–all while giving children the foundation they need for future acedemic and social success.

Because when a community comes together to remove barriers, dreams become realities for more children and their families.

FINANCIAL SECURITY

Financial stability is more than making ends meet –it's having the opportunity to build a future filled with possibility.

At United Way of Reno County, we believe every family deserves the tools, resources, and support needed to move from surviving to thriving. That's why we work alongside nonprofit partners, businesses, community organizations, and local leaders to strengthen pathways to financial stability.

Through investments in high-impact programs, collaborative community conversations, and direct programs like Reno Connections, we help connect neighbors with resources that address barriers like employment, affordable housing, healthcare, and childcare.

Because when families are financially stable, our entire community becomes stronger, more resilient, and better equipped to thrive.

MADE POSSIBLE BY YOU

Your giving helps people across Reno County build financial stability and confidence through education, direct services, and access to vital resources.

The figures in the next column represent FREE services provided to community because of the generousity of donors and the support of UWRC.

BY THE NUMBERS

260 Seniors benefited from home repairs through Interfaith Housing's Home Repair program

FEATURED STORY

Stability Starts At Home

When neighbors invest in neighbors, stability grows.

For many older adults in Reno County, home is more than a place to live–it's their greatest source of stability.

But when a roof begins to leak, a wheelchair ramp is needed, or critical repairs become too expensive, the cost of staying safely at home can threaten both a person's independence and their financial security.

No one organization can solve those challenges alone. That's why our community comes together.

Through the John W. Scott Homeowner Repair and Rehabilitation Program at Interfaith Housing & Community Services, volunteers, skilled contractors, and community partners work side by side to provide essential home repairs and accessibility improvements for seniors throughout the county. By combining donated time, professional expertise, and community investment, we help stretch every dollar while ensuring older adults can continue living safely and comfortably in the homes they love.

These repairs do more than fix houses–they prevent financial hardship, preserve independence, and give neighbors the confidence to remain in their homes without sacrificing other basic needs.

When a community invests in helping its neighbors age safely at home, everyone benefits. Families gain peace of mind, seniors maintain their dignity, and financial stability becomes possible for those who have spent a lifetime building our community.

FOCUS AREA

HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

A healthy community is built on more than access to care–it's built on the belief that every person deserves the opportunity to thrive.

At United Way of Reno County, we believe healthcare should be accessible, affordable, and available when our neighbors need it most. That means supporting the full spectrum of care – from preventative care to physical and mental health services, our goal is to help individuals and families in our community stay healthy.

Through our network of funded partners, community collaborations, and direct programs like SingleCare prescription savings and Reno Connections, we help remove barriers to care and connect neighbors with the resources they need.

Because when everyone has the opportunity to access quality healthcare, our entire community becomes stronger, healthier, and more resilient.

MADE POSSIBLE BY YOU

Your generosity helps people across Reno County live healthier, stronger lives through access to care, health education, healthy meals delivered to homes, and resources that support overall well-being.

FEATURED STORY

United For Our Children

Together, we build safety and create hope.

Every child deserves to grow up feeling safe, supported, and empowered to speak up when something doesn't feel right. But for many children, understanding how to recognize unsafe situations and knowing where to turn for help can make all the difference.

For more than four decades, the Reno County Personal Safety Awareness Program (PSAP), has brought together educators, law enforcement, mental health professionals, and child advocacy experts to help children build the skills they need to stay safe.

Through a curriculum delivered in local schools by a team of professionals from Horizons, students learn how to recognize risks, respond to unsafe situations, report concerns, and access trusted adults and community resources. The program addresses child abuse prevention, online safety, and the growing risks children face in an increasingly digital world–all while reinforcing an important message: they are not alone.

PSAP is more than a classroom program. It is a community partnership delivered for free to the community through UWRC's support–bringing together prevention, early intervention, and trusted relationships to create a stronger network of support for children.

When schools, professionals, community organizations, and donors come together, we create the support systems children need to build resilience, and navigate challenges today and in the future.

COMMUNITY RESILIENCY

A strong community isn't defined by the challenges it faces–it's defined by how it responds.

At United Way, we believe resilience is built long before a crisis begins by strengthening relationships among nonprofits, businesses, schools, faith communities, government, and volunteers.

When challenges arise, those relationships become action. By bringing partners together, connecting neighbors to critical resources, and coordinating community responses in the aftermath of a natural disaster, we help ensure no one has to face hardship alone.

Because connected communities are stronger, more responsive, and more resilient.

MADE POSSIBLE BY YOU

Your support helps our community bounce back stronger after disasters and challenges. Together, we provide immediate relief and long-term resources that help families rebuild and heal.

FEATURED STORY

STRONGER TOGETHER

Strong communities don't wait. They respond.

When thousands of Kansans suddenly faced uncertainty surrounding SNAP benefits, the impact reached far beyond grocery stores. For many families in Reno County–where 41% of households are ALICE or living in poverty–it created immediate concern about how neighbors would put food on the table.

United Way didn't have all the answers, but we knew where to start: bring people together.

We convened community partners, including the Reno County Food Bank, churches, nonprofit organizations, the Volunteer Center, legislative leaders, and the Hutchinson Community Foundation to assess the situation and coordinate a community response. Together as a collective of community, we identified needs, shared resources, and developed a plan to support both families and the organizations serving them. Then we turned to another incredible network–our workplace campaign partners.

Nineteen local businesses answered the call, transforming concern into action through a community-wide food drive. These businesses and their generous employees donated more than 6,800 pounds of food, helping stock local shelves when they were needed most.

Community resiliency isn't about one organization solving a problem. It's about relationships that allow a community to respond quickly, work together, and care for its neighbors.

That's what your support makes possible.

41%

OF RENO COUNTY HOUSEHOLDS ARE ALICE OR LIVING IN POVERTY.

That percentage means that four out of every ten households in Reno County fall below this threshold.

ALICE is our neighbor. Our co-workers. Our employee.

They're working hard every day, yet making impossible choices on what they can afford – from childcare, housing, transportation, utilities, healthcare, and groceries.

When families live paycheck to paycheck, our entire community feels it.

That's why United Way of Reno County is leading a community-wide effort to make lasting change.

The Reality Today

41%

Of Reno County households are ALICE or living in poverty. That's more than 2 out of every 5 households.

They earn above the poverty level, but less than what it costs to afford the basics.

Rising costs for housing, child care, transportation, health care, and food make it even harder.

ALICE represents working families, seniors on fixed incomes, and individuals doing everything they can, but still falling behind.

TOGETHER, WE CAN CHANGE THE STORY.

UWRC is committing to a bold goal because we believe every person in Reno County deserves the opportunity to thrive.

Behind every opportunity to thrive is a community that cares!

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, our team can continue showing up for Reno County–connecting people with resources, creating opportunities, and building a stronger future together.

Your support makes this work possible, and we are honored to be part of a community that believes in the potential of every person.

YES! I AM PROUD TO CONTINUE INVESTING IN THE WORK WE DO - TOGETHER!

Celebrating our generous business community

Giving at work is about more than a campaign. It's about coworkers coming together around a shared belief that everyone in Reno County deserves the opportunity to thrive.

The Top 25 Workplace Campaigns noted below reflect that spirit of generosity, and UWRC is grateful for the businesses and employees who make community philanthropy a part of their workplace culture.
